DEATH.

FOLAN.—On the 1st instant, at Whroo, Elizabeth, the beloved wife of James Folan.

"Not lost, but gone before."

Mrs Folan, an old resident of this district, died early on Saturday morning last, after a painful illness, from cancer.

The deceased was ailing for some months past and was taken to the Mooroopna Hospital some five weeks ago. No hope, however, was entertained of her recovery, and she was brought home three weeks since to die.

Her funeral took place on Monday last at the Whroo Cemetery and was attended by a number of old friends.

The Rev. W. H. Chapman officiated at the grave. Mr George Anderson carried out the funeral arrangements.

The Rev. Mr Chapman announces in another column that he will conduct a memorial service in the Whroo church next Sunday evening.
